

2023 CATALOGUE

For the curious

Dear Reader,

Welcome to DK's 2023 catalogue.

With our 50th anniversary fast approaching, we're gearing up to deliver some brilliant books for your customers, your family, your classroom, or even your own bookcase.

This year we have worked with hundreds of talented experts and authors to bring you books that offer awe-inspiring knowledge and facts to adults and children of all ages, allowing a variety of voices to be heard, and helping people find their passions.

DK is proud to be different; we have produced the world's most-read and most-loved award-winning encyclopedias and reference books. Copied by many, but never quite matched, DK's stunning visual compendiums each feature hundreds of specially commissioned photographs and illustrations, with cutting-edge knowledge and awe-inspiring facts.

We are world leaders in the Education market, and look forward to releasing our new collections with the freshly launched DK Learning, and our partner Phonic Books.

I cannot wait to share our exciting list with you. So turn the pages of our world-leading books and find your passion with DK.

Rebecca Smart, Co-CEO, DK

The Peppercot Diaries[®]

Andi Oliver

The Peppercot Diaries is Andi Oliver's long-awaited first cookbook and deeply personal exploration of Caribbean food. Showcasing both traditional and new recipes, she creates simple yet sensational dishes from a melting pot of cultural influences. Let Andi take you on a journey of identity, history and heritage that have uniquely shaped Caribbean cuisine.

Stories from my Caribbean table

The Peppercot Diaries is a book that has been swirling around me for years. I now find myself here in Antigua, with finally some time and space to start getting these thoughts down onto paper. Exploring the flavours that I grew up with, this book is indeed a little walk across the Caribbean islands themselves, but it's also a walk through me. I am a mix of the which my mother, father, aunts, and uncles all brought with them when they came to England.

I am also one of those who was made here, made in the new but somehow still steeped in the old. It's somewhere way down inside me though, not really knowing that deep truth about myself, but always looking over my shoulder feeling like I'd left the gate on or left something behind. There is a veracity to this for most all of the daughters and sons of migrant families. It becomes diluted over the years and generations, but I feel that, somehow, we are always looking back trying to work out how to become grounded. This is why our food and the kitchen is so important to us. It directly connects us to the other places, where we can feel the sun on our skin and hear the pots banging, feel the concentration down the ages as legions and needs must, conspired to create a culinary lexicon that is precise and life-saving.

Caribbean food is a direct result of the fact that have trodden through the islands. The DNA from those who have come and gone and stayed is not just in our blood, it is in our food. There is, of course, a dark shadow in the story, but in our food, there is light and joy and survival and colour. Influences from India, Spain, the Americas, Africa, China, Portugal, Britain, France, and not forgetting the indigenous inhabitants – the Taino, the Arawaks, the Carib.

It is truly a global cuisine, constantly evolving and bursting with flavour. I am a mix of all these things. And, I am a Black British woman, which brings in yet another voice, another layer to the story, another flavour to the pot.

This book is my way of telling just some of those stories, my way of singing my song. A bit of the past, the present, and the future. As always, with love from me to you.

Pumpkin & plantain coconut curry

Serves 6
Prep time 15 minutes
Cook time 1 hour

Warming, quick, and delivering on BIG flavour, this one is a midweek must!

neutral oil, such as rapeseed (canola) or sunflower oil for frying
1 onion, thinly sliced
2 tbsp Green Seasoning (see page 110)
1 cinnamon stick
1 tsp cumin seeds
1 tbsp Caribbean curry powder
3 tsp ground turmeric
1 Scotch bonnet, very finely chopped
600g (1lb 5oz) pumpkin, peeled, deseeded, and sliced
200g (7oz) green lentils, rinsed and drained
600ml (2¼ cups) vegetable or chicken stock
2 ripe plantains
250ml (1 cup plus 1 tbsp) coconut milk
400g (7 cups) roughly chopped spinach

Heat a splash of oil in a high-sided frying pan or wok with a lid and set over a medium-low heat. Add the onion and fry for around 5 minutes until softened. Add the green seasoning, cinnamon stick, cumin seeds, and curry powder and fry off for a couple of minutes before adding the turmeric and chili.

Add the pumpkin and lentils and stir to combine with the onion and spices. Pour in the stock, pop the lid on the pan and cook over a low heat for 30 minutes, or until the pumpkin is tender and the lentils are nearly cooked.

Meanwhile, peel, slice, and fry the plantains in a splash of oil in a separate pan until golden on each side. Set aside.

Add the coconut milk and most of the fried plantain to the curry (leaving some for the garnish) and give it all a good stir. Lay the chopped spinach over the top of the curry in the pan and cook for a further 10 minutes.

Finally, gently stir through the wilted spinach and serve the curry garnished with the remaining fried plantain, alongside the rice or bread of your choice.

BROWNIE YULE LOG

This log cake is traditionally made with a light chocolate sponge, rolled up like a yule log and decorated like the log. Here we use a brownie for our base and use a chocolate ganache to decorate the outside.

INGREDIENTS

Serves 10
Prep time 15 minutes
Cook time 1 hour

WARMING UP
Preheat the oven to 180°C (350°F). Grease a 20cm (8in) round cake tin with butter and line with parchment paper.

THE LOG
Melt the butter and brownie mix in a large bowl. Add the flour, eggs, and vanilla extract. Mix until just combined. Pour the mixture into the prepared tin and bake for 1 hour. Allow to cool completely.

FINISHING TOUCHES
Roll the log out onto a surface dusted with icing sugar. Spread the ganache over the log and decorate with the fruit.

STORAGE
Store in an airtight container for up to 3 days. Reheat in the oven for 5 minutes before serving.

NOTES
You can use any fruit you like. We used strawberries, raspberries, and blueberries.

The Egg Book

A visual journey through the early life stages of baby animals at the remarkable moment they hatch from their eggs.

Many animals start life inside eggs and this book explores these magical capsules in detail, with stunning photographs of the moment the creatures emerge.

The Maths Adventurers

Join two friendly and funny robots, Beep and Boots, as they discover that maths is everywhere they look.

Children aged 5-7 will love seeing the robot duo's adventures, brought to life by characterful illustrations and rhyming text, and will learn key mathematical concepts in a gentle, fun way.

A Kid's Book About

A Kids Book About is a collection of beautifully designed books that kickstart challenging, empowering and important conversations for kids and their grownups.

From exploring what racism is and how it makes people feel when they experience it, to an honest look at how kids can begin to manage anxiety, these are conversations that are never too early to start.

Dive into the world of art in collaboration with The Metropolitan Museum of Art. Each title in the series takes inspiration from art, history, and culture to draw readers into the worlds curated by The Met.

Specially commissioned text and illustration is informed by the Museum's unparalleled staff, works from their collection, and archival assets to illustrate and explore 5,000 years of art as never seen before. See how iconic artists like Frida Kahlo and Edgar Degas were influenced by their environments and be inspired to create your own artworks.
