A year of seasonal eating

By Meni Valle

Smith Street Books 9781922754875 £26 Hardback | 25.5 × 21 cm 224 pp | 160 colour photographs On sale 11 April 2024

Meni Valle is a Greek–Australian cookbook author and food teacher. Her rich Greek heritage, coupled with her love for travel and food, has seen Meni become one of Australia's most-respected authorities on Mediterranean cuisine. When she is not writing cookbooks, Meni shares her knowledge and passion for Greek food through cooking classes and culinary tours to Greece, where she loves connecting with locals and discovering new recipes. She also regularly presents at festivals and conferences and contributes to magazines.

The Mediterranean Cook is Meni's sixth cookbook, following My Greek Kitchen (2011), My Mediterranean Kitchen (2012), Everyday Mediterranean (2015), Mediterranean Lifestyle Cooking (2019) and Ikaria (2020).

A celebration of seasonal produce, the Mediterranean way.

Warm and generous, Meni's recipes are a celebration of seasonality sprinkled with a bit of nostalgia for a simple, Mediterranean way of life. – Emiko Davies

Meni invites us into her kitchen to share in her knowledge of Mediterranean cuisine as well as wonderful dishes such as pickled peppers stuffed with cabbage, bouyourdi, home-made filo pastry, and chocolate and fig tart. The recipes celebrate lovely, seasonal, abundant Mediterranean food for sharing, along with beautiful photography. — Tessa Kiros

Escape to the Mediterranean with Meni Valle's celebration of the fresh and flavour-packed cuisine of the region, with more than 75 vegetarian recipes. From roasted eggplants and tangy artichokes to perfectly flaky pastry boats and juicy grilled plums and figs, each dish is an invitation to savour the sensational flavours of the countries that border the Mediterranean.

Following slow food values, Valle's recipes are simple and seasonal, showcasing how to get the best out of fresh, local produce, all year round. Featuring beautiful photographs of each recipe, as well as step-by-step images to guide the reader through more intricate preparations, The Mediterranean Cook is a heartfelt and beautifully captured homage to a cuisine rich in flavour and history.

Fans of Alison Roman, Diana Henry and Elizabeth David will adore this warm, salty-aired celebration of Mediterranean produce.

Reading At Nonna's Table brought a big smile to my face. Every recipe is enticing and doable; while the stories are so warm it's a book you'll read whenever you are missing the hugs of your own family.

- Vicky Bennison

A book written with love; full of nostalgia, comforting recipes for feeding loved ones and stories recounting a way of life that would otherwise be all too quickly forgotten.

– Emiko Davies

Step into the warm and welcoming kitchen of Nonna Livia with Paola Bacchia's cookbook, At Nonna's Table.

Inspired by her Mamma Livia's cherished recipes, Paola presents 60 delicious dishes that celebrate the best of Italian home cooking. From soups and appetisers through to main courses, sides, desserts and pickles and preserves, this book is a treasure trove of traditional and contemporary Italian dishes made with love and care.

Complete with beautiful photography to accompany each delicious recipe, this book showcases the fresh ingredients, bold flavours and simple techniques that make Italian food so beloved. From the hearty Peperonata con melanzane e pomodori (Eggplant and Tomato Stew) to the crowd-pleasing Pollo Ripieno (Celebration Chicken) and the indulgent Torta arancia e cocco con albicocche (Orange Cake with Apricots), alongside heartfelt stories from Paola's childhood and her mum's life, this book will delight lovers of food and family.

Whether you're a seasoned cook or just beginning, At Nonna's Table is the perfect guide to recreating the warmth and joy of an Italian family kitchen in your own home.

CONTENTS

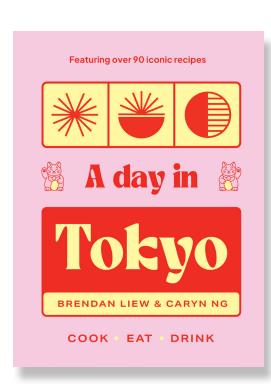

Paola Bacchia was born to Italian migrant parents and into their food culture. Her award-winning blog, Italy On My Mind, explores the connection between family memories and food through stories, photos and recipes. She returns to Italy every year to expand her knowledge of Italian food and traditions.

Previously, Paola has published Adriatico (2018), Istria (2021) and Italian Street Food (2021) with Smith Street Books.

A Day in Tokyo

Cook • Eat • Drink

By Brendan Liew and Caryn Ng

Smith Street Books 9781923049048 £20 Hardback | 23×17 cm 240 pp | 124 colour photographs On sale 7 March 2024

Brendan Liew and Caryn Ng have spent more than a decade travelling to Japan, traversing its cities and rural countryside to explore, learn and live the local culture and cuisine. In 2016, they established a pop-up Japanese restaurant, Chotto, in Melbourne, bringing traditional ryokan-style breakfasts to the city. The cafe transported diners to Japan on a cultural and culinary journey spanning old and new, inspired by everything from countryside dinners on the Nakasendo trail, to the food of Japan's far north and deep south, and the animated feasts of Studio Ghibli.

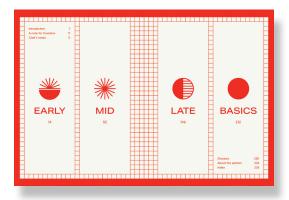

A chef by training, Brendan has worked at restaurants including Kadeau in Copenhagen and Benu in San Francisco, and the three-Michelin-starred Nihonryori Ryugin in Tokyo and Hong Kong. He studied the craft of ramen making in Osaka before settling on specialising in kappo and modern kaiseki cuisine.

The best of Tokyo cuisine and culture, from AM to PM.

From the bustling streets of Shinjuku to the hidden corners of Ueno, this book takes you on a delicious food adventure from breakfast through to dinner, showcasing the diverse tastes and ingredients of Japanese cuisine. Start the day with unbelievably fluffy Funwari Hottokeki, dive into some Tokyo-born Yakisoba Pan for a muchearned midday break and end the night with crunchy and tender Tonkatsu.

Capture the delicious flavours of Tokyo at home with 96 recipes and insider tips on where to find the best local eats. A Day in Tokyo is the ultimate book for food and travel enthusiasts.

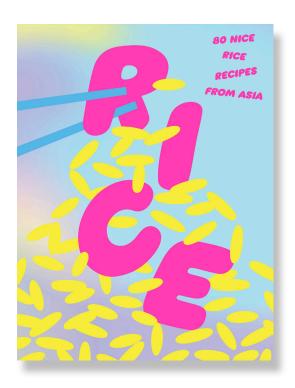

Featuring recipes from Billy Law, Aim

Never Too Small was born out of a desire to make living in small spaces better. In 2017, Colin Chee was living in a 38-sq-m (409-sq-ft) apartment in inner-city Melbourne and was hungry for examples of how other compact spaces like his had been transformed through clever and beautiful design. The Never Too Small YouTube channel now has an online following of over 2.45 million.

Small footprint design that proves living better doesn't have to mean living larger.

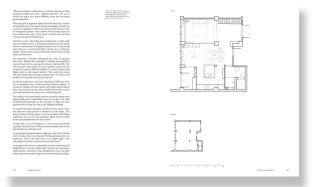

Following the success of their first book, Never Too Small: Vol. 2 showcases 30 new and outstanding homes from around the world that explore small space living.

Framed by five small-footprint design principles, the book features beautiful photography, detailed floor plans and accessible architectural commentary on each of the 30 homes.

Championing the work of award-winning architects and designers, Never Too Small offers an inspiring model for the future of housing where sustainability and style, comfort and affordability can co-exist.
