A New New Me HELEN OYEYEMI

There's a different Kinga for every day of the week: Monday's Kinga A deletes food delivery apps whilst Friday's Kinga E spends the day drinking wine in the bath. It's an arrangement with lots of admin, grudges and half-truths. But when Kinga A discovers a man tied up in their home, all the Kingas must reckon with the possibility that one of them might be planning to destroy them all.

Helm SARAH HALL

Helm is a mighty wind. Demon, phenomenon, marvel — a thing so special no other wind got named, just Helm. He has blown since gods were young, seen all of human history. Epic and elemental, rich and surprising, mischievous and vital, Helm is the story of a relationship: between nature and people, neither of whom, it seems, can really live without the other.

The Greengrass Papers TOM SHONE

An in-depth look at the film-maker who re-wrote the Hollywood rule book with his action films.

Greengrass uses documentary techniques to imbue his thrillers and docudramas – Bloody Sunday, The Bourne Ultimatum, United 93, Captain Phillips – with the heat and crackle of chaotic, fast-moving, real-life events. Tom Shone highlights the different facets of Greengrass's film-making interests: the repressive power of the state, American hegemony, the voice of the marginalised.
