RONE

I'm not one to lie on the beach or sit around on holiday, so while on my honeymoon in the Dominican Republic, my restlessness led me to an abandoned resort to explore as a canvas. After putting up my work, I had my camera set up to take photos. I was cautious to avoid a roaming caretaker, but while snapping photos of the wall, this horse entered the frame and scared the life out of me. Though spooked, I was able to get this shot.
