Tie-in to the hit Channel 4 show Extraordinary Escapes with Sandi Toksvig

Extraordinary Escapes uncovers the hidden treasures that the UK has to offer, featuring characterful holiday homes from the hit Channel 4 series, plus many more. Explore amazing homes around the UK, including getaways from the most stunning areas of Suffolk, Kent, the Cotswolds, Devon, Cornwall and Norfolk, with a guide to the landscape, history and architecture of each one. Whether you're seeking a rural idyll or a remote romantic retreat, the beautifully designed and lovingly restored properties include a Scottish castle, an artist's mill and a converted lighthouse.

With a foreword by Sandi Toksvig, the book will evoke memories of childhood holidays and reinforce the benefits of slow living, and mindful travel, inspiring you to look closer to home for that truly special escape.

Gemma Bowes is a freelance travel writer and editor with 15 years' experience working on the travel desks at the Guardian Media Group and, later, The Times. She continues to freelance for travel companies and publications, such as The Sunday Times, the Guardian, the Observer and Condé Nast Traveler. Her adventures have taken her all over the world, but she is equally thrilled when discovering magical new places to stay in the UK.

- Sandi Toksvig will support and promote the book
- Book trails on Channel 4 when the second series airs in February 2022
- Taps into 'staycationing' trend
