Issue Twenty-Seven

This spring, we visit Paris and explore one of the world's most iconic cities through the Kinfolk lens, examining the essence of joie de vivre and how it translates into life outside the French capital.

We spend a day in Le Marais with Ramdane Touhami, the energetic entrepreneur behind L'Officine Universelle Buly, pay a visit to the modernist pied-à-terre of Emmanuel de Bayser, pore over the archives at Hermès, and meet the diverse roster of Parisians that have made their hometown one of our favorite cities.

Elsewhere in Issue Twenty-Seven, we meet musician Benjamin Clementine in Los Angeles, delve into the life and work of artist Monir Shahroudy Farmanfarmaian in Tehran, drill into subjects such as loneliness, the dead of night and true grit, speak to fashion designer Khalid Al Qasimi and meet dancers Akram Khan and Michaela Prince, plus much more.

Issue Highlights

With a dynamic mix of long-form journalism, interviews and shorter essays, plus concept-driven visual stories and contributors across the globe, the forthcoming issue of Kinfolk continues to dedicate its editorial to exploring personal values and quality of life.

HIGHLIGHTS INCLUDE:

- A diverse roster of Parisians show us the city's lesser-known gems, including chef Pierre Touitou, rabbi Delphine Horvilleur and more.
- A day in the life of Ramdane Touhami, the energetic entrepreneur behind French beauty emporium L'Officine Universelle Buly.
- A feature interview with musician Benjamin Clementine.
- A longform special on solitude: its relationship with loneliness, and how a balance between the two can drive creativity.
- Emmanuel de Bayser welcomes us into his mid-century residence.
- An interview with seminal Iranian artist Monir Shahroudy Farmanfarman sheds light on an extraordinary life.
- Further features on Françoise Hardy, ballet dancer Michaela DePrince and more.
- More interviews with fashion designer Khalid Al Qasimi, dancer Akram Khan and psychologist and author Jamieson Webster.
- Plus: how to help with the bereavement of others, a rich history of butter, the particulars of self-sacrifice, why you can never find what you're looking for, and more.
