

Harbour Life presents the full gamut of life in the port of Antwerp-Bruges. That is much more diverse than you might think. The port complex is of course populated with dockers, freight forwarders, terminal operators and harbour masters. But you also meet bar owners, priests, nature conservationists and heritage guards. Harbour Life introduces you to their fascinating world.

 5 city and port tours lead you through the historical centres of Antwerp and Bruges and the port areas on the Right and Left Bank of Antwerp and in Zeebrugge

 35 people share their personal port stories

 in 30 portraits

 Countless facts, figures and good addresses bring to life Europe's second-largest port complex

PUBLISHERS

Patrick Verhoeven

HARBOURLIFE ANTWERP-BRUGES

Patrick Verhoeven (b. 1969) was introduced to the harbour life at age 16 while working as a student. He was bitten by the port bug at the time and since then, his passion has never waned. After having spent almost a quarter of a century defending port and shipping interests to European Union institutions, he joined the International Association of Ports and Harbors in 2017 as managing director. Patrick teaches port economics at the Centre for Maritime & Air Transport Management, a centre of excellence of the University of Antwerp and the Antwerp Management School. He has shared his passion for ports, cities, culture, history and the good life in general in several earlier publications.