

TITLES 02 & 03
MATERIAL MATTERS: Wood
MATERIAL MATTERS: Metal
Creative applications of common materials

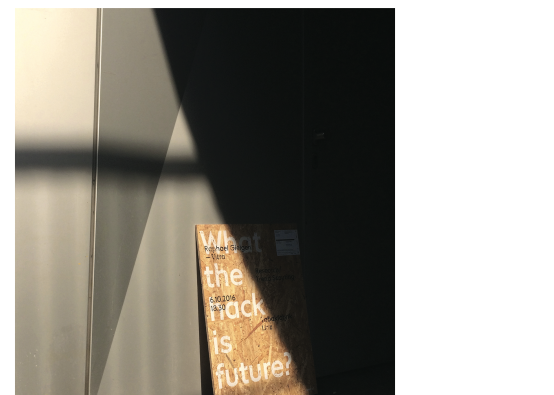

An inspiring source of reference for artists and designers looking to experiment with commonly available materials and their infinite creative possibilities

Bayan Tree Identity
 selgascano designed the epitome of a futuristic cave of wonders for the 15th Serpentine Gallery Pavilion in London. The colourful structure was a considered study in connecting architecture with the natural landscape. Using a clever combination of simple materials, the studio managed to deliver not only an intriguing experience for visitors, but also a luminescent work of art.

selgascano
 Client: Serpentine Galleries • Photo: Iwan Baan

Bayan Tree Identity

selgascano designed the epitome of a futuristic cave of wonders for the 15th Serpentine Gallery Pavilion in London. The colourful structure was a considered study in connecting architecture with the natural landscape. Using a clever combination of simple materials, the studio managed to deliver not only an intriguing experience for visitors, but also a luminescent work of art.

selgascano
 Client: Serpentine Galleries • Photo: Iwan Baan

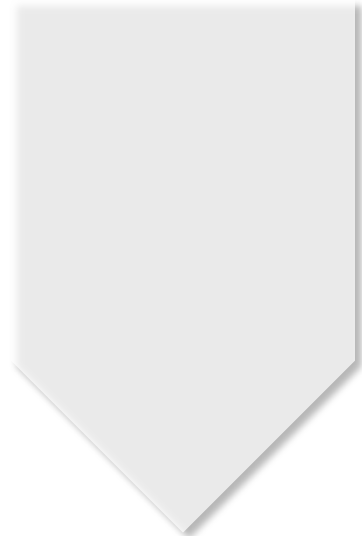

Bayan Tree Identity

selgascano designed the epitome of a futuristic cave of wonders for the 15th Serpentine Gallery Pavilion in London. The colourful structure was a considered study in connecting architecture with the natural landscape. Using a clever combination of simple materials, the studio managed to deliver not only an intriguing experience for visitors, but also a luminescent work of art.

selgascano
 Client: Serpentine Galleries • Photo: Iwan Baan

Select sound
 bites that offer
 glimpses into the process of manipulating different materials, with relevant tips and tricks

Bayan Tree Identity

selgascano designed the epitome of a futuristic cave of wonders for the 15th Serpentine Gallery Pavilion in London. The colourful structure was a considered study in connecting architecture with the natural landscape. Using a clever combination of simple materials, the studio managed to deliver not only an intriguing experience for visitors, but also a luminescent work of art.

selgascano

Client: Serpentine Galleries • Photo: Iwan Baan

Cocoa - Your Dose of Serotonin

selgascano designed the signage of a futuristic cave of wonders for the 15th Serpentine Gallery Pavilion in London. The colourful structure was a considered study in connecting architecture with the natural landscape. Using a clever combination of simple materials, the studio managed to deliver not only an intriguing experience for visitors, but also a luminescent work of art.

Giada Tamborino

Client: Serpentine Galleries • Photo: Iwan Baan

T Relation typography. © Txaber 2018