

She got off the road when she heard the car, and took the path through the woods.

She remembered the dream, not the reality.

Even then, the world was beautiful and full of possibility.

Her fear disappeared. It was all too beautiful to be afraid.

Carolyn

Marks

Blackwood The Story Series

Barbara Rose